Land Preservation Update

Since 1989, D&R Greenway has placed 255 properties, approximately 18,200 acres, valued at $365,303,622, into permanent preservation, an area twenty times greater than the size of New York's Central Park.

This was a good year for preservation. In 2013, another 1,000 acres was preserved by D&R Greenway with the help of our partners and supporters. Thank you.

2014 marks the 25th anniversary of our founding in 1989. Over these many years, we have grown from the small seed of an idea into a soundly rooted tree with many branches. The work we do every day remains focused on land preservation. We know that what we save now—before it is lost—will be here forever. Lands that enable clean water and fresh air. Habitat for native plants, birds and wildlife. Local farms that produce fresh, local food. Places for children to play and for all of us to be inspired and refreshed. This is the legacy that is D&R Greenway Land Trust.

Why do we care? Because without our efforts, the very survival of the human species is at risk. The work we do provides the essential ingredients for life. It contributes to the well-being of every man, woman and child who lives in this region we call home. We're in this together—and we are grateful to all of D&R Greenway's supporters who are investing in our collective future.

Howard Farm Preservation is an Investment in Family, Food and Community

Watching the grandchildren weave their way among 1,500 pound cows, the Howards' ruminate on their investment in land that turned into food for the soul.

"It was an alternative 401k Plan," explained Dr. Charles Howard of his 35-acre farm in Montgomery Township. "We figured we could sell it someday for development." As retirement approached and it was time to think of cashing in his "401k", Dr. Howard, a radiologist, and his wife Edie decided they did not want to part with the land.

The Howards' bought their circa 1750 farmhouse on 10 acres in Belle Mead in 1976, enthusiastic about raising four children in a rural environment. Three years later they added another 25 acres. With the help of Joel Nystrom, a local farmer, they began the adventure of farming. Joel sold them Angus cattle. They had never owned cattle. Then came the equipment: tractors, plow, harrow, hay rake and baler. They had never before planted or harvested a field. The experience of owning a farm became an adventure and great learning experience for the whole family!

Eventually, the herd of cows numbered 30 with a resident 2,500 pound bull. To protect the neighbor's lawns they built sturdy fencing with Osage Orange posts they cut from the Nystrom's hedge rows. Every spring when the hay was ready the Howard's four children, friends, relatives, and neighbors joined in the 'fun' of haying.

"Raising Angus for food turned two of our kids into vegetarians," comments Dr. Howard, as he and Edie, surrounded by six happy dogs, return to the house invigorated by their daily two-mile hike on the land. The Howards "family" grew to include horses which their daughters rode, chickens for fresh eggs and a variety of cats, which at one time numbered as many as seventeen. "When the kids were little they'd sell the eggs to neighbors,” recounts Dr. Howard. Eventually, all the animals, cows included, became family pets. “Any animal here has a lifelong home.”

The 35-acre Howard Farm in Montgomery Township is the 253rd property protected by D&R Greenway since its founding in 1989. Today the farm is surrounded by suburban homes, an oasis of the town’s rural character in a developed landscape. “The Howards’ open working farm is important to the surrounding community,” says D&R Greenway President Linda Mead. “It is bordered on three sides by houses. The next crop would surely have been tract homes if the Howards hadn’t made the important move to preserve it.”

Sharing the open space with family is one of the greatest pleasures in owning the farm. Son Tim and his wife Sharon were fortunate enough to have the opportunity to raise their three children across the field from the farmhouse. Daughters Julie and Laura bring the other grandchildren to visit as often as possible, and son Alan enjoys one of his favorite hobbies in a woodshop in one of the barns.

A chance encounter, Dr. Howard met Belle Mead resident Wade Martin of Morgan Stanley while having breakfast at the Harlingen deli one morning. Sketching out a plan for preservation and showing Dr. Howard the numbers on a napkin, Wade provided the solution to both retirement funding and keeping the farm intact.

Wade has worked with D&R Greenway for over 15 years. A passionate advocate for preservation as a smart investment, Wade became an enthusiastic supporter in 1997 when he realized D&R Greenway could help him save the character of the community where he grew up.

“I show clients the difference between how much money you get vs. how much money you keep when you sell for preservation instead of development,” says Wade. “The Howards could have sold to a developer but they would have lost their view and their way of life. They would have had to pay capital gains taxes and rollback taxes, equal to three years of property taxes for each lot. A lot of people don’t understand this.”

“Most people need the income but don’t want to develop the property, so preservation is a great step to take. People just have to do the numbers – just as we did on a napkin at the deli,” Wade continued. “The landowner is better off preserving and utilizing tax deductions than selling to developers and paying taxes. You keep your land and your view, and it’s better for the community.”

The Howards sold the development rights for their farm at a bargain sale price, donating a substantial portion of the value to the community.

D&R Greenway brought together the township, county and state to provide the funding—something a single entity could not do alone.

“That’s D&R Greenway’s strength,” says Wade, “to get everyone on the same page so everyone walks away happy. The Township of Montgomery, the County of Somerset and the State of New Jersey, local residents, Charlie and Edie and D&R Greenway—everyone is playing on the same team.”

Montgomery’s Mayor Rich Smith noted, “The Township is excited to see another local family farm preserved, and extends our thanks to the State Agriculture Development Committee and Somerset County for funding the project, and to D&R Greenway for structuring the deal and shepherding it to the finish line.”

The Howards benefit from the sale of the development rights in their lifetime. Residents of more than 20 houses backing up to the farm get to enjoy the view, dogs and kids can kick up their heels as they run together, and all the friends and family who walk the field become acquainted with the multitude of wildflowers, birds, and animals that now also have permanent homes on the farm.

The added value, achieved with guidance from Wade Martin and Morgan Stanley, is that the proceeds gained from the bargain sale provided gifts to the Howard children and grandchildren. D&R Greenway benefited with a gift from the Howards as well, to ensure that the critical work of preserving and caring for land can continue into the future.

“Preservation of the land is worthwhile all around,” says Dr. Howard. “The Township and community can enjoy the open land forever and we get to continue to enjoy the richness it gives our lives. The true ‘investment’ we made all those years ago was, in reality, an investment in our family and our lives.” It’s a win-win for all. 🍷

A Prescription for Nature

Hundreds of studies have documented the effect of green space on health outcomes:

- Copenhagen: Living a short distance from a park was linked to less stress and a lower BMI.
- USA: Children with ADHD were more able to focus in nature than in a built outdoor or inside environment, and children in low-income households lowered their risk for asthma by living near areas with higher tree density.
- Japan: Green neighborhoods and more parks = greater longevity for elderly.

Volunteers

D&R Greenway Land Trust volunteers are vital to our success and make important contributions:

- In 2013, our Native Plant Nursery volunteers planted and cared for more than 50 species of native plants. These plants are being used to restore native landscapes on D&R Greenway preserves, on partner lands and in our supporters' own backyards.
- Our New Jersey Trails volunteers cleared miles of trails that contribute to a greenway network throughout our region. They field-check information that is posted on www.njtrails.org. Led by former D&R Greenway Board Chair, Alan Hershey, volunteers from age 16 to 80+ move boulders, forge through brush and build pedestrian bridges.
- Our Stewardship volunteers multiply the work of our interns and staff, enjoying the community spirit of volunteering. The next time you enjoy a D&R Greenway preserve, think about the volunteer efforts that go into caring for the land. Our preserves require careful tending to remove invasive species, restore habitats and maintain trails.

- The Native Seed Project volunteers have been remarkable in every way! From the planting of seedlings to harvest, their work has been invaluable. Without the support of our volunteers in planting, weeding, mowing and harvesting, we could not be successful.

• Willing Hands assist events, art openings and educational programs. They generously ensure that the latest information about D&R Greenway activities reach our supporters. Willing Hands provide hospitality and welcoming smiles at our events.

D&R Greenway Land Trust thanks each of our volunteers for their unique partnership in our mission. To learn about volunteer opportunities, please call (609) 924-4646 or visit www.drgreenway.org.

The Changing of the Guard:

Long-time Trustees Inspire New Enthusiasm

“A small group of us started with the idea of saving land. What D&R Greenway has become today is beyond our wildest dreams.” — Founder Sam Hamill

On occasion of our 25th anniversary, former trustees gathered to share stories and talk about new ideas for the next 25 years.

In 1989, central New Jersey was a developer's dream with wide open fields, beautiful forests and abundant clean water to support a growing population. Local communities were still thinking about “ratables” from new taxes, and hadn't yet begun to realize the impact of new houses with schoolchildren and cars. Today D&R Greenway has preserved 18,200 acres of land.

Our Board of Trustees guides the organization. In the beginning, they were the worker bees. As D&R Greenway grew with professional staff and a larger land preservation vision, they set the policies that enabled us to make a difference in local communities. Their dedication and care secured our reputation as a can-do land trust statewide and nationally.

In January 2014, seven long-time trustees reached term limits. We are grateful for their commitment over many years.

- Richard Goldman, Esq.
- Meg Gorrie
- Alex Hanson
- Retiring Chair, Alan Hershey
- Cate Litvack
- Hella McVay
- Mark Solomon, Esq.

Their passion continues as they serve on committees and help with special projects.

“I am so proud of D&R Greenway—from its small humble beginnings to a leader in innovative and collaborative ways to preserve land from the mountains, to the farm fields and even our urban centers,” said Richard Goldman, Esq., former trustee and Chair. “I have been honored to participate over these past 23 years in developing and nurturing the comprehensive vision and planning for preservation that has become the hallmark of D&R Greenway.”

Long-time trustee Cate Litvack shared, “D&R Greenway's work will never be done. The D&R Greenway community will grow and flourish. I'm so glad to be a part of a truly remarkable ‘family’.”

New trustees elected in 2014 are: Cynthia De Lisi Smith, Esq., Johan Firmenich, Liza Morehouse, John Rassweiler, Ph.D., Betsy Sands and Beverly Taylor. Together, we all look forward to making an impact that will continue the next 25 years and beyond. 🍷

The Taplin Circle

Frank Taplin was a respected philanthropist who championed the cause of land preservation. His vision and leadership resulted in the permanent protection of two signature Princeton landscapes, the Institute Woods and Coventry Farm.

In 2004, D&R Greenway Land Trust honored Frank Taplin's memory and his support of land preservation by creating the Taplin Circle, to recognize individuals who contribute $1,000 or more annually to support D&R Greenway's critical work. Members of the Taplin Circle share Frank's commitment to preserving the land, the historic character and the natural resources of New Jersey.

All members of the Taplin Circle are invited to a special reception annually where they hear first-hand about the accomplishments that their support makes possible.

Please note that Taplin Circle members who have made a multi-year pledge are listed here at their most recent pledge payment level. Multi-year pledges in effect in 2013 are noted on page 9.

We express our deepest thanks and appreciation to the members of the Taplin Circle for their leadership in supporting the work of D&R Greenway Land Trust.

Preserved Inside and Out...
Meadowtree Farm

Meadowtree Farm sits on the 10,000th acre preserved by D&R Greenway and is located on Carter Road at the edge of Princeton. Noted as the oldest “new house” in the country, this magnificent country estate boasts the finest elements of two time-periods.

Built since World War II, the mansion is embellished with materials emblematic of the period of Louis XVI. The home's paneled rooms, fireplace mantels, doors, stairways, flooring, iron railings and chandeliers have come from such places as the former Cornelius Vanderbilt mansion on Fifth Avenue, the Shaw Estate in Massachusetts and the Chateau de Petit Trianon.

Surrounded by a backdrop of preserved lands, the ambiance of Meadowtree Farm sets the mood for a grand 25th Anniversary Down-To-Earth Ball.

2013 Partners in Preservation

D&R Greenway Land Trust thanks our Partners in Preservation for their investment in our mission. With your support we are able to:

- Permanently preserve and care for natural areas, farms and historic landscapes for the public's benefit;
- Lend our expertise to communities in New Jersey to ensure preservation of local lands;
- Implement a vision of interconnected greenways that optimize the protection of wildlife, plants and water resources and that provide opportunities for recreational trails;
- Inspire a conservation ethic by connecting people with the land.

Perhaps the most significant benefit of preserving the natural and agricultural landscapes surrounding our cities, towns and villages is that it strengthens these communities by providing, quite literally, "common ground"—a shared continuity of experience with the land that extends across the generations.

We would particularly like to welcome first-time donors to our organization, and members of the Princeton Photography Club, several CWW Houses and Garden Clubs for their collective support.

We are most grateful to the families and individuals who have provided steady support for D&R Greenway's work through the years—see page 17 for acknowledgment of our Steadfast Stewards. We are grateful for your unfailing generosity each and every day.

To request a correction to this donor list, please call D&R Greenway at (609) 924-4646.

Donations Received January 1, 2013 to December 31, 2013

Shop and Support Land Preservation

OnePrinceton is a new way to pay at participating local businesses using your smartphone or a card. It links directly to your checking or savings account and works just like a Paypal account.

Paying with OnePrinceton lowers the payment fees for businesses. It allows businesses to donate one percent of a OnePrinceton purchase to a participating local non-profit of choice.

Spending with OnePrinceton is an easy way to support D&R Greenway and strengthen the local business community by shopping at your favorite local businesses, shops and restaurants.

All participating businesses and non-profits are listed at www.oneprinceton.com. To sign up, create an account at OnePrinceton.com and designate D&R Greenway Land Trust as your preferred non-profit. ☺

The D&R Greenway EverGreen Circle

The D&R Greenway EverGreen Circle was created in 2009 to recognize donors who have remembered D&R Greenway in their wills or revocable trusts, or who have made a planned gift to D&R Greenway through a charitable gift annuity, their retirement plan or by other means.

D&R Greenway is grateful to the following people for their thoughtful and generous support in leaving a legacy for the land that will be entrusted to future generations.

To join with these foresighted contributors, contact D&R Greenway President & CEO Linda Mead or Director of Development Leslie Davis Potter at (609) 924-4646.

Land Gift Benefits Land Preservation Mission

This 69.5 acre property in Franklin Township, Somerset County was donated to D&R Greenway Land Trust in a bequest.

Virginia Dey Craig wanted to honor her family. A plaque will be erected with support from Virginia's friend, Elizabeth Joy.

When she included this gift in her will, Virginia asked that D&R Greenway use this bequest to aid in its efforts to secure additional open space properties in the area.

If you are interested in learning more about how you can create a legacy through planned giving with D&R Greenway Land Trust, call Director of Development Leslie Potter at 609-924-4646, extension 121. ♻️
